Process Summary

The future-state workflow begins when the patient arrives at the clinic and checks in at Reception. Appointment details and referral requirements are verified before payment status is confirmed and the patient is checked in..

The Healthcare Provider reviews the patient's medical record, performs the consultation, and determines whether laboratory tests are required. When tests are requested, the Laboratory performs the examinations, uploads the results to the Electronic Health Record (EHR), and notifies the healthcare provider. The provider then reviews the results, updates the patient's medical record, and determines whether a follow-up appointment is necessary.

If a follow-up is required, the request is sent to Reception, where a new appointment is scheduled. Otherwise, the consultation is completed and the process is concluded.
